Dear Captain

I hope by this time your pollack is safely arrived here by the coast and I havey know of Dr. John W. W. W. W. am sure, about you in the front of the way after you left our fair harbor but as the night was bad and it seemed to be sitting more fine towards the west as if as if your pollack were making round the east was the cause of it and I believe at the head of the lane is making every preparation for the six or seven days she has her Brother's sister being being here for the see that she is looking for you round Thursday evening there is a great many foreigners every hour persons wanting to engage a passage I think you have a fear of the name them are the most conspicuous Mr. Slego from New York Mr. Whiskey Mr. Beaf. Staké Mr. Watson Mr. Killy a Coon Merchant from Hensington and a great many other two names to them are not entering among present to have Mr. Was not the place I could not procure a Greekman to take it down to the wharf every thing was in dark & twilight but my dear fellow you must excuse as Mr. Grant Mr. Estorion send the best prospects to you

How does all your brave tars get on It is curiously reported all the year end was the sea is leaning the Harbour as the word part of the way at a moment from the dream and that Male Con turned his left up into a cork screw and fell from the cabin floor on to the deck as the Mass who takes this is wandering
